Vol. 1 Issue 1

I hope this letter finds you well and that you have all enjoyed a lovely summer break. It has been lovely to welcome the children back this week! They look smart in their uniforms.

Just a couple of reminders as we start the new term. Firstly, please ensure that all items of clothing are clearly labelled with your child's name. This helps us to keep track of belongings and ensures that lost items can be returned swiftly! Also, I would like to emphasise the importance of punctuality. Arriving on time not only sets a positive tone for the day but also helps your child to feel settled and ready to learn. I kindly ask that you support us in this goal by ensuring your child arrives at school promptly each morning. This year is going to be the year of reading, Read, Read, Read! I provide further details of this over the coming weeks.

Thank you for your continued support as we work together to make this school year a truly successful one. Should you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to get in touch. Looking forward to a fantastic year ahead!

This week's talking task:

Democracy

The survey asked parents and children to name things around them they find incredible. We can all be inspired by different things and express these ideas freely with others.

UN Rights of the Child

As children develop and encounter more of the world, they can decide what they find incredible and interesting. Adults should make sure children's views about the world are listened to and respected.

Protected Characteristics

Lots of people were included in the survey. Having a religion or belief can impact what people find awe-inspiring. We should never be treated unfairly because of our religion or belief.

Media Literacy

How do the different pieces of information relate to each other?

Explanation: Let's think about the Seven Natural Wonders of the World, and how we can use news reports to find out more about them.

Questions to Discuss

- Is it important to be aware of and appreciate the world around us? Why?
- What methods can we use to discover more about the world? E.g., research, talking, travel.
- How can the news tell us more about wonders and landmarks around the world?

Reflection

Research and investigation can help us better understand our surroundings and learn more about the world's wonders.

Activity

Research one of the Seven Natural Wonders of the World.

Safely explore news articles, reports and useful web pages to help you produce your own 'Wonder Fact File'.

Share your work with others to celebrate the world's natural beauty!

TAKEHOME

1st - 7th September

What do you think makes something a wonder of the world?

In the news this week

In a recent survey, 600 parents and 400 children, aged six and seven, were asked to name the everyday things around them that they find incredible or awe-inspiring. The list included things like sunflowers, diggers and puddles. The survey took place as part of eye care company, Specsavers', 'Wonder' campaign, which hopes to raise awareness of the importance of eye health.

Things to talk about at home ...

- Talk to someone at home about the Seven Wonders of the World. Are they familiar with them? Would you like to visit any of them? If so, which ones and why?
- Can you make a list of what you and others at home consider to be wonders of the world, or wonders of your world?
